Frankly, no. They change in intensity and direction. The devil is no dummy. He tries all the doors and windows and then begins to look for chimneys, holes in the roof, hidden keys, weak areas. If all that fails, he starts to chip away at the foundations.

Best advice that I can offer is to procure a strong team of prayer warriors and intercessors to lift you up and to take you before the throne. It does not lift your own responsibility for prayer, but it does help spread the load on many shoulders. Specific prayers should be offered for you and for your family, for all the aspects of your life from employment to prayer life, for your property and for your family's property. Ask your intercessors to pray diligently, not just about the prayer list stuff, but so that you would know day by day, week by week and season by season, just what it is that Father would have you be doing. If they pray BEFORE you set an agenda, you have a better chance of finding HIS agenda!!! That is really why intercessors have become so very, very important to me in the last ten years. It is a prophetic thing. They touch the heart of God on your behalf, asking that same heart be revealed strongly to you so that you, through your music ministry, can be revealing Father's heart to the body.

Did the warfare against Jesus stop? HAS it stopped?? Nope. That's why we have been told to know our enemy and to know his wiles and his ways, to know that he wanders around seeking whom he may devour!
